Senate Makes Speed Limit of Automobile Twenty Miles an Hour in the Country and Eight Miles in Cities-Bill for Improving the Canals Introduced.

ALBANT, Feb. 27.-Charges were made in the Assembly to-day that Gov. Odell wants to make the judiciary of the State subject to his will and dictation, and that instead of having an independent judiciary the Governor wants a partisan judiciary. Mr. Fitzgerald gave vent to some severe ssions in supporting a motion made by Minority Leader Palmer to discharge the Judiciary Committee from further consideration of his proposed amendment to the Constitution providing for additional Supreme Court Justices. It is almost similar to the McCarren resolution which passed the Senate yesterday. But the Assembly does not look so kindly upon such an important matter bearing the name of a Democrat as the introducer, and Mr. Palmer's resolution lies in committee without being acted upon.

This gave Mr. Fitzgerald his opportunity for attacking the majority and he charged them with having no independence whatever, that they did not dare to introduce a bill without first going to the Governor and getting his approval. As for the representation they gave their constituents,

"Why, you simply swell around in your seats in this chamber, when you might just as well send your photographs here."

In connection with the relief of the Supreme Court for New York and Kings counies Assemblyman Weekes introduced a concurrent resolution amending the Constitution, which he says is what the New York city Bar Association wants and thinks it will meet the demands of the situation now and at all times in the future. It gives the Legislature the right to create additional Supreme Court Justices for any district. when in the opinion of the Appellate Division there is necessity for that action.

Assemblyman Bennett's bill, aimed at "Little Coney Island," has been favorably reported in the Senate. The bill was amended to make it more stringent and to prevent any loophole being offered to any one to escape the provisions of the proposed law. The bill is aimed at a notorious resort on 110th street, in New York city, but in order that it should not affect private parties, Mr. Bennett inserted in the bill a provision Mr. Bennett inserted in the on a provision that nothing in the act was to be construed to prevent dancing at any wedding or reception given in a public hall. The Senate amended the bill by striking out the words "or reception," so that dancing, except at a wedding cannot be permitted in New York city in any public hall where liquor is said or successive nights.

Automobile Club of America has won The Automobile Club of America has won its fight in the Senate against those who would restrict the speed of automobiles beyond the desires of the members of the club. The Cocks Automobile bill was discussed in the Senate to-day when it came cussed in the Senate to-day when it came up on final passage, and amended in several particulars. As amended, and as the bill will pass the Senate, it provides that an automobile shall not exceed a speed of smiles an hour in any city or incorporated village, or 20 miles an hour elsewhere, and 4 miles an hour over bridges. The hill as amended to day would also allow bill as amended to-day would also allow a speed of 20 miles an hour in unincorpo-rated villages. In cities local authorities may permit a speed exceeding 8 miles an hour. This is in the interest of the company operating the automobile stages on Fifth avenue in New York city. The penalty for a violation is a misdemeanor, the first offence punishable by a fine of $50 and subsequent offenses by a fine of $50 or six months' imprisonment or both.

The vote on the main amendment to the The vote on the main amendment to the bill to-day to allow a speed of 20 instead of 15 miles an hour outside of cities and incorporated villages was what might be called a test vote upon this question in the Senate. The 20-mile speed allowance was adopted by a vote of 28 to 19.

WANT TENEMENT LAW CHANGED. Brooklynites Referred by Gov. Odell to the Legislature. ALBANY, Feb. 27 .- A delegation of fifty Brooklynites came here to-day to see Gov. Odell and ask an amendment to the Tenement House law which will permit the Brooklyn builders to erect tenements as under the old law without utilizing so much of the space for airshaft purposes. The delegation contained representations of the Mechanics' and Traders' Exchange of the Mechanics' and Traders' Exchange, Manufacturers' Association, South Brookhyn Board of Trade, Grand Street Board of Trade, Broadway Board of Trade, West End Board of Trade, Greenpoint Board of Trade and of the lumber, brick and lime interests and labor organizations of Brooklyn. They were headed by former City Comptroller George W. Palmer and former Building Commissioner Guilfoyle.

The Governor told the party to seek a remedy in the Legislature which had the first handling of the problem. The deleration said that the new Tenement House law had practically compelled a suspension of building in their borough.

Health Commissioner Lederle is opposed to the proposed amendment to the Tenement House law, involving the reduction in the size of airshafts. He was unable to attend the hearing on the bill, in Albany, yesterday and sent a telegram to Senator Stranahan, chairman of the Cities Committee, saying that the present area of shafts should be preserved in order to prevent the spread of infectious diseases, of which, even now, 2,000 a week are reported.

BOXING BILL REPORTED.

It Permits Sparring Bouts Under the Sanction of the A. A. U.

ALBANY, Feb. 27.-The Assembly Codes Committee to-day favorably reported Assemblyman Dooling's bill permitting sparring exhibitions of not more than fifteen minutes duration under the auspices of the Amateur Athletic Union. The bill was reported by a vote of 7 to Messrs. Weekes, Gherardi Davis, Plank and Phillips being against reporting and Messrs. Bennett, Sherer, J. A. Allen and Hammond (Reps.), and Nevil, Dale and Dooling (Dems.) for reporting. This action of the committee is looked upon as being significant that the bill will pass the Assembly this year. GOV. ODELL'S CHARITIES BILL

ALL THE PATRONAGE LODGED WITH THE GOVERNOR.

He Appoints a State Superintendent, a He Appoints a Local Superintendent and Steward for Each Institution Who May Be Removed by the Governor.

ALBANY, Feb. 27.-The publication in THE SUN this morning of the essential points of the tentative draft of the proposed bill to reorganize the control of the State charitable institutions, so that the distribution of the patronage of the fourteen institutions will be lodged solely with the Governor, resulted in the further publication to-day of a few minor details of the Governor's proposed plan. These minor details were contained in a statement emanating from the Executive Chamber, which asserted that the State Board of Charities had agreed to the general lines of the bill. Whether this is true or not will not be known until the State board passes upon the bill at its special meeting to be held in New York city to-morrow morning. The proposed charity bill embraces sixtyeight printed pages. In the first place it establishes the office of a State Superintendent of Charities, who is to be appointed by the Governor after the Legislature adjourns. This superintendent is to serve for a term of five years, which is an indication that there is no politics in this bill. His salary will be $4,000 and he will be allowed not to exceed $1,500 annually for expenses. The superintendent may be removed by the Governor for cause and is to have an office in the Capitol, with a secretary, a stenographer and such other employees as may be needed.

In other words, by this bill the Governor establishes another State Department. The superintendent is charged with the execution of laws relating to the State charitable institutions which are under the inspection of the State Board of Charities. He is to visit each institution twice a year. We is a determine when the fitness of these of the state of He is to determine upon the fitness of the present officers, attendants, teachers and other employees. He may appoint a per-son to examine the accounts, condition and management of any institution. One of the most important provisions is that the managers or trustees of an institution must comply with any directions of the super-intendent in regard to the management of the institution. The present boards of managers or trus-tees of the institution are retained and are each to elect a President and Secretary. Their travelling expenses are to be paid and they are continued in office practically as boards of visitation only, though they will have the general management, direc-tion and control of their respective insti-tutions under the sole direction of the State Superintendent of Charities, and they must do as the State Superintendent tells them to do. The local boards shall meet once a month at the institution.

The Superintendent of State Charities, instead of the local boards of managers, who now have this power, is to appoint a superintendent and a steward for each institution and each of such officers may be removed by the Governor or the State Superintendent. The superintendent of Superintendent. The superintendent of each institution is to be the treasurer thereof and the chief executive officer. Each local superintendent is to have the general management, direction and control of his institution, and is to appoint and remove all tution and is to appoint and remove all officers and employees, except the steward, subject to the Governor's State Superin-tendent of Charities. Gov. Odell insists that there is no politics in the bill. The State Board of Charities retains its

The State Board of Charities retains its powers of visitation and inspection which it now exercises under the Constitution, but it is stripped of its authority to pass upon plans for the improvement and betterment of the institutions. The State Comptroller retains the privilege of auditing the bills of the institutions.

$10,000 FOR MISS STONE'S STORY.

toport That It Is Said May Explain Her Reticence to Talk to Correspondents.

Special Cable Deepsich to THE SUN.
SALONICA, Feb. 27.—Miss Stone and Dragoman Gargiulo started for Constanti-nople to-day. During the few hours she and Mme. Tsilka were here many newspaper correspondents of several nationaliies tried to interview them, but met with little success. The friends of the women were equally reticent.

The explanation of their refusal to talk s said to be that an American publishing firm has made a contract with Miss Stone to pay her $10,000 for the exclusive rights of her narrative, and Mme. Tsilka has signed an agreement to remain silent until the story is published.

The correspondents, however believe that their reticence is largely owing to Minister eishman's insistence that they say nothing and the baby's life. CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 27.-Foreigners here have not the least doubt of Turkey's responsibility for the abduction of Miss Stone and her companion. They regard it as undeniable that the capture, the payment of the ransom money and the release all occurred on Turkish territory.

It is said that when Dragoman Gargiulo returned after the supposed failure to pay the ransom, owing, as the reporters said, to the brigands being scared through the mismanagement of the affair by the American mission, he had actually paid the money and refilled the money boxes with rocks, the escort guarding the boxes as before. This was done to keep faith with the brigands, who stipulated that nobody should know they had been paid until they had had time to insure their own safety.

MISS STONE'S ABDUCTORS.

Americans Sent to Treat With Them Had to Swear Not to Divulge Their Identity. WASHINGTON, Feb. 27.-The State Departnent has been notified by Minister Leishman, at Constantinople, that the brigands who held Miss Ellen M. Stone and Mme, Tsilka in captivity for six months compelled the American agents sent by Mr Leishman to treat with them, to take a solemn oath not to divulge the identity of the abductors or anything that had been learned concerning them According the advices from Mr. Leishman the brigands informed the American agents hat any violation of the oath would be that any violation of the oath would be followed by vengeance against Americans in Turkey and Bulgaria. In view of these circumstances the State Department finds tself in a quandary in carrying out its dis-position to secure the punishment of Miss Stone's captors. Whether Miss Stone and Mme. Tsilke were also sworn to secrecy is not known here, but it is believed that rey were.

From what was said in official circles to-day, it is probable that this Governmen will take no steps to punish the brigands believing that such a course may result in the abduction or the assassination of American officials and missionaries residing in Turkey and Bulgaria. Miss Stone's abductors regard themselves as patriots. They are said to be religious fanatics, who would not hesitate to sacrifice themselves in order to obtain revenge for any harm that may come to any of their number for the kidnapping of Miss Stone and for the kid Mme. Tsilka

Sentenced to a Year for Impairing the Morals of the Children She Employed

Helen M. De Long of 318 West Fiftyeighth street, the entertainment promoter who has figured frequently in the West Side police court, was sentenced to a year in the penitentiary by Presiding Justice Holbrook in the Special Sessions yesterday. The charge brought against her was that she had impaired the morals of young children by inducing them to sell tickets for two entertainments, one scheduled for Carnegie Hall, on Dec. 3, under the auspices of the "Home for Friendless Women," the other for the Waldorf-Astoria, on Jan. 2, under the auspices of the Cherokee Club.

Neither was given.

There were others in the court room who said that they had been muleted by Miss De Long. A stenographer swore that the woman had failed to pay her for work done. A negro dressmaker showed a document which Miss De Long had given her for services, saying that it was a Govber for services, saying that it was a Govber for services, saying that it was a Govber for services. her for services, saying that it was a Gov-ernment bond. BEAT ODELL FOR GOVERNOR, CANTOR'S IDEA.

Mayor Low Contributes to This Democratic Rally Some Thoughts on the Weakening Effect of Patronage and Praises Prince Henry of Prussia. Mayor Low, President Cantor and John

Sheehan helped open the new clubhouse of the Greater New York Democracy of the Twenty-ninth district at 121 East Eightythird street last night. The rooms were crowded. In the course of his speech Mr. Sheehan said:

It required courage in the early days of this movement. The men organizing it actually took their lives in their hands to eate such a party when the Tammany thugs were in power.

The Democrats are getting together not only in this district, but in every district in the city to make a strike for representation, trict, but many other districts at the primaries in September. A victory then is more important than was the one last No-vember. Another victory must be won which shall completely change the manage-ment of the Democratic party of this city and give to every member a word in the party's affairs.

The men in control of Tammany for the past four years lived by levying on the people's money; some by blackmail and others at Washington. The old issues are not dead and will be used in the Congressional campaign next fall.

I see a Republican Governor growing weaker day by day and hour by hour. Gov. Odell has usurped legislative function and no legislator dare oppose him. He has revolutionized his party's policies. Look at tionized his party's policies. Look at a action in reference to the State Insurance w and the Judiciary. There is encourage-mt in this for Democracy, and I believe will have a Democratic Governor next

I sympathize with Mayor Low's bill just introduced at Albany and I believe it should be a law. Not a single promotion or change of salary can now be made by the administration.

Meyer J. Stein introduced the Mayor. Meyer J. Stein introduced the larger, who said:

If Prince Henry had had the good fortune to be born in this country he would have made a first-class American citizen. He is full of kindness, lovableness, pure democracy and courtesy. He and his suite are looking at America with Intelligent eyes and I am sure we will be better understood when they return to Germany, and I believe we will understand Germany better. They are gentlemen of foresight, judgment and influence. I can understand how my neighbors in my place might do some things better than I do them, but in every action that I take the desire to do justice to every element in the fusion movement always guides me. I think patronage is an element of weakness to a political party which wants to stay in power. There is a better appeal than that to patronage—the appeal to juiblic opinion, the source of political power in this country. I hope we shall be able to serve the city so as to please that public opinion. I hope you will hold up my hands and the hands of all my colleagues so as to help us to perform.
